On cause of the sea gate this place was used as an important fortress long time ago and it was the center of many historical happenings.

Worth knowing things about the region...

It has been told that many different energies come together at this place. Also the famous author Paulo Coelho (Alchemist) visited this lively place on the search for his treasure: Tarifa. Legends decorate this village back then as well as today.

- Everybody who visits Tarifa will never forget the both definitions “Levante & Poniente“. These are two kinds of winds. The east wind “Levante“ comes from the Sahara and brings warm air which can blow through the town with up to 50 knots. The colder wind “Poniente“ comes up from the Atlantic Ocean with ca. 11 – 21 knots.
- The temperatures in Tarifa are always around 25 degrees. Also in the main season it stays comfortable, because there is always a fresh breeze from the Atlantic Ocean.
- Tarifa not only offers watersports, there are also many other things you can do for enjoying nice and diversified days. No matter if you plan daily trips with the ferry to Morocco, if you want to go hiking or biking in the backcountry, or if you want to watch whales, you will find something for every kind of taste.
